

PRESIDENT HAS SUMMONED BIG MEN TO PARLEY

Conference Will Follow
A Talk With His Successor

Washington, Nov. 18—(AP)—Gathering his full cabinet around him for the first time in months, President Hoover today gave consideration to war debt and domestic problems as a prelude to his conference next week with President-elect Roosevelt and Congressional leaders.

One or more members of the official family have been absent from cabinet sessions since mid-summer for campaign or other reasons, but all answered the call today in the fact of what Mr. Hoover has termed a pending "world problem of major importance to this nation."

Requests of foreign debtors for a moratorium extension and a review of the debt field received cabinet attention along with the gigantic task of paring federal expenditures down to the level of receipts.

As they arrived at the White House, members were informed that the President in an historic telephone conversation with his successor-elect yesterday had arranged to meet him shortly after 9:30 P. M., next Tuesday afternoon in the executive offices to discuss debt and allied problems.

They were informed, also, that the Chief Executive has summoned three Republican and three Democratic members each of the Senate Finance committee and the House Ways and Means committee to sit with him the following day to discuss debt matters.

Vice President Curtis was in the Capitol today but did not attend the cabinet session.

These plans were announced by the White House yesterday after a telephone conversation between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt, and during a series of conferences in budget matters between the President and such aides as Secretary Hurley, Postmaster General Brown and J. Clawson Roop, Director of the Budget.

Data All At Hand
Available for the President's fiscal studies were latest Treasury figures showing a deficit exceeding $709,000,000 on November 15. Also at hand were tax data showing that despite improvement in October, collecting for the first four months of the 1933 fiscal year was only $358,108,065 as compared with $455,144,328 in the same period a year ago.

Activity on Capitol Hill was paralleling the White House consideration of debt and budget matters.

On one thing, the House Appropriations committee started on its annual job of trimming down budget figures, spurred by Chairman Byrns' forecast as the first supply measure was tackled that this year's allowance for the Treasury and Post Office Department would drop "considerably" below last year's of $1,056,000,000.

Also, the legislators continued to express determined views on the request of Belgium, England and France for a further moratorium while their vast debts are re-examined. Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, who immediately accepted Mr. Hoover's invitation to confer Wednesday, questioned whether a moratorium proposal would get "a single vote from the present House."

Congressional Opinion
Other examples of congressional expressions on debts included: Senator Bingham (R. Conn.): "I am absolutely opposed to laying a further burden on American taxpayers."

Representative Britten (R. Ill.): "If the ten principal European nations can not jointly pay the insignificant sum of $123,641,398 on December 15, then we should hold them in default until they do pay."

Senator Ashurst (D. Ariz.): "Un-Sam can not reclaim the spendthrifts of Europe by filling their pockets with money."

Senator Norbeck (R. S. D.): "I voted against, passing the debt over last time."

Representative McFadden (R. Pa.): "Mr. Hoover's moratorium has just been repudiated at the polls."

Others Summoned
Besides Rainey, those summoned to the Wednesday conference include Senators Smoot of Utah, Watson of Indiana, Reed of Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Harrison of Mississippi, King of Utah, and George of Georgia, Democrats.

The Representatives are Collier of Mississippi, Doughton of North Carolina, Democrats, and Hawley of Oregon, Treadway of Massachusetts and Bacharach of New Jersey, Republicans.

The Treasury's most recent tax statistics, of utmost importance in raising all budgetary plans, showed that between July 1 and October 31 the government had collected $632,879,258 and had spent $1,341,977,000.

October's total collections of $89,849,895 exceeded, for the first time this fiscal year, last year's corresponding month which came in only $72,356,032. But continued declines in old taxes largely were offsetting small increases returned by the new levies of the emergency billion-dollar tax law.

Gasoline taxes continued to lead other new taxes by returning $14,734,372 in October, $3,324,625 more than in September. But during the four-month period income taxes aggregated only $187,805,970 as compared with $339,239,225 in the same period last year, while tobacco taxes brought in $136,434,322 a drop of $9,959,830.

The six members of the House Ways and Means committee invited to meet with the President Wednesday will attend.

GOV. EMMERSON INVITES HORNER TO CONFERENCE

Will Entertain Judge
And Discuss New Budget Figures

Chicago, Nov. 18—(AP)—Gov.-elect Henry Horner has wired his acceptance of an invitation from Gov. L. L. Emmerson to confer on the 1933 budget. He said he had wired Gov. Emmerson that he would be pleased to discuss the subject.

Judge Horner is now on a vacation at French Lick, Ind., but expects to reach Springfield the middle of next week.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 18—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson today received the acceptance of Judge Henry Horner, Governor-elect, to his invitation to come to Springfield for a conference on the biennial budget.

"Knowing your deep interest, and your desire to hold the expenses of state government down to the minimum in order to be of relief to the taxpaying public," Governor Emmerson wrote his successor, "I wish to invite you to come to Springfield and offer such suggestions relative to changes in the same as you may deem best."

"All departments are working on the biennial budget for 1933-34."

"Mrs. Emmerson and I will be pleased to have you as a guest at the Executive Mansion during the time you are here. It will be a personal pleasure to assist you in every way in my power."

It will be the first time since the budget system was adopted that an incoming Governor has been invited to familiarize himself with the finances of the state before his inauguration.

Members of the Governor's cabinet have been directed to submit their proposals for the budget, slashed to the minimum. Their proposals carried reduced salary appropriations for their successors, in accord with an act of one of the special sessions, cutting directors of departments from $7,000 to $6,000 a year.

Reductions can only be made for the Executive or the Governor's department. Cuts in salaries of employees under other state officials, must be provided for in appropriation bills, by the General Assembly. Salaries of elective, or code officers, cannot be reduced within their terms of office.

CORD AND COHU AGREE TO END COSTLY BATTLE

Bitter Fight To Control
Aviation Corp. Has Been Settled

New York, Nov. 18—(AP)—The spectacular fight for control of the Aviation Corp. of Delaware and its operating subsidiary, American Airways, has ended in an agreement.

After days of charges and counter charges, which threw Wall Street and the financial community into two sharply opposing camps, it was announced last night that the opposing factions, one led by the youthful E. L. Cord, and the other by La Mott T. Cohn, president, had reached a compromise.

The agreement provides that the Board of Directors shall be reduced to 15, that five shall be selected by Cord and his group, five by the Cohn group, and five by the Cohn group, which Cord is seeking to control, and the remaining five chosen by mutual agreement between the two factions.

Cord, newly risen automotive financier, and a heavy stockholder in the Aviation Corp., had sought to oust the corporations present management. The quarrel followed a plan of the Board of Directors to buy the assets of North American Aviation through a stock issue.

Was Costly Battle

The fight over the huge aviation concern involved a battle for proxies unprecedented in the airplane field and the expenditure of large sums for advertising.

Cord is due here by airplane from the Pacific coast today. Cohn and L. B. Manning, Executive Vice President of the Cord Corp. and a member of the Cord camp, issued a joint statement, saying:

"An arrangement has been arrived at by representatives of both contending groups of directors of the Aviation Corporation looking to a settlement of the existing controversy. The arrangement will be submitted shortly to the Board of Directors for their approval."

It is proposed that the board be reduced to 15 in number, one-third to be selected by the present board, other than the Cord interests; one-third by the Cord group, and one-third independent prominent men mutually agreed upon by both groups.

"All matters at issue will be resolved by the new board and litigation ended."

MOUNTAIN IN DISGUISE
LONDON—Snowdon, the loftiest mountain in Wales, is to be disguised to resemble the mountains of Asia. Plants and foliage from the hills of Tibet and China are to be imported by the Alpine Gardens Society and planted on the slopes of Snowdon. This project, which is going to be carried out at an altitude of 3000 feet, will help to beautify the mountain's bare cliffs.

MISS JOHNSON BEAT HUSBAND IN LONG FLIGHT

British Aviatrix Arrived
At Cape Town This Morning

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Nov. 18—(AP)—Amy Johnson, flying alone from England, landed here at 1:30 P. M. Greenwich time (8:30 A. M. ET) today, clipping nearly 11 hours off the speed record held by her husband Captain J. A. Mollison.

Last March Capt. Mollison made the trip in 4 days 17 hours and 19 minutes. His wife's time was 4 days, 6 hours and 55 minutes, or ten hours and 24 minutes faster than his.

She brought her small monoplane, "Desert Cloud" down to a perfect landing to the accompaniment of shrieking motor horns and the cheers of 2,000 persons waiting to see her. The crowd gave the pilot some trouble as it rushed to surround the flyer.

Made But Four Stops

Miss Johnson covered the 6,260 miles from England with only four stops. The first was at Oran, Algeria, whence she flew 1,500 miles across the Sahara desert to Gao in Portuguese, West Africa. Then she followed the coastline to Benguela, landed there and at Mossamedes, her last stop before reaching here.

She was very tired. When Mollison made the flight the strain was so great that he cracked up at the finish. He explained later that he had had so little sleep during the flight that in the last landing he misjudged his distance. He was not hurt and the plane was not badly damaged.

Between Benguela and Mossamedes yesterday Miss Johnson's plane developed trouble in the oil line and it looked for a while as though she would have to quit. She adjusted the feed line, however, at Mossamedes and lost only a little time.

Is Dangerous Flight

It is a dangerous flight down the whole length of Africa, with long stretches of jungle where a forced landing might be fatal. Miss Johnson had weather trouble, too, for along a 1,000 mile stretch there was torrential rain which made it impossible for her to see much more than the line of breakers marking the coast. She flew low along that line, occasionally pulling up sharply to get over the cliffs that appeared suddenly through the rain and fog.

When Mollison came down here nearly eight months ago Miss Johnson was one of those who welcomed him.

"I think you're wonderful," she told him then, and four months later they were married. Two months after that Mollison made the first solo flight from east to west across the North Atlantic.

Amy was heavy-eyed but otherwise surprisingly fresh when she stepped out of the plane today. "Thank you very much for this great welcome," she said, "I said I would come back and here I am."

Wanted Only Sleep

She posed for the photographers and then the mayor and his wife and the rest of the official reception committee led her away to an automobile. They whisked her off to an office on the other side of the field and as she left the car the young woman collapsed for just a moment, burying her head in her arms. She recovered quickly and went on inside, remaining in the office for an hour before starting to the home of a friend where she will stay while she is here.

"All I want now is sleep," she said before she left. "I had only five hours during the whole trip."

There was a telephone call from her husband in London. She talked to him but declined to answer several other calls because she was too tired.

HUSBAND THRILLED

London, Nov. 18—(AP)—Capt. J. A. Mollison, who never thrilled much to his own achievements in the air, was excited today when he learned that his wife, Amy Johnson, had beaten his own record for the flight to Cape Town. "I'm so proud that she has done it," he said, "but I knew she would. Perhaps the world thought she never could repeat her great flight to Australia, but this shows she has the real stuff in her. This is wonderful. For a man it would be fine, but for a woman it is splendid."

He hurried off then to put in a telephone call to Cape Town.

Governor Sends Congratulations To Dixon Youths

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 18—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson today congratulated the five Illinois high school boys who won the national championship in meat judging at the Royal Stock show at Kansas City.

In behalf of Illinois, and personally, the Governor sent his congratulations to four Dixon high school boys—Wilmer Gerdes, Melvin Fisel, Elton Williams and Donald Miller, who placed first as a team in judging meat. He also congratulated Robt. Howey of Atwood, who was pronounced national champion in the fat stock judging contest. The Atwood high school stock judging team placed third.

RED CROSS TO AID WELFARE WORK IN CITY

Flour And Clothing
To Be Provided:
Roll Call On

With a realization of the increased responsibilities of the American Red Cross in the last year and the knowledge that the organization is facing its busiest winter since World War days, local leaders are taking an unusually active part in the membership campaign, now taking place. This campaign will last until Thanksgiving Day, and all those who have not joined to date are urged to do so. So far the response has been good, and the local Chapter is very grateful for the cooperation shown by Dixon citizens.

Last year the Lee County Chapter did very creditable work through the efforts of the Home Service Secretary Albert Ruggles of Dixon, and with the cooperation of the Spanish American War Veterans, American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars handled 151 ex-service men cases; 40 ex-service men were sent to different Veterans' hospitals for medical aid and they assisted in getting awards of increases in pension and compensation to the amount of $689 per month.

Then through the local Welfare Association 250 barrels of Red Cross flour was distributed in Dixon and Lee County at no cost to the community. It appears that at least 250 barrels more will be available for use this coming winter.

As soon as the material arrives, which the Red Cross National Headquarters are sending to this Chapter, headquarters will be established on East First Street, where the Cotton Distribution Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Ida McCreary as Chairman will cut, make and fit garments for the needy. This committee is co-operating with the local Welfare Association in that those receiving help from the Welfare association will be given assistance also at the Red Cross Headquarters.

In view of the fact that so much assistance has been given and will be given by the National Red Cross to the part of all those who can, should be made to join or take out a membership $1.00 in this worthy organization. Those who have not received a letter, card and button, and want to join may drop into the Chamber of Commerce office or get in touch with Chairman Robert Sterling and a membership card will gladly be filled out.

HEAD OF HOUSE RULES BODY IS FOR BEER ACTION

Thinks Congress Will Modify Volstead
Act This Term

Washington, Nov. 18—(AP)—Chairman Pou of the House Rules committee today expressed to newspapermen the "hope that we can get modification of the Volstead act behind us at the short session."

As head of the powerful committee which has so much to say as to what the House will act on, the North Carolina Democrat is in a strategic position in the House.

To newspapermen, he said he "realized the difficulty of getting important measures through Congress during a short session" and added:

"I will be glad to cooperate in carrying out the pledges of the Democratic platform."

Pou, the Democratic dean of the House, voted against the 18th amendment and the Volstead act, although he was an advocate of prohibition in North Carolina.

Voted For Veto

In voting to sustain President Wilson's veto of the Volstead act, he said in the House that the state was the largest political unit that could enforce prohibition. He asserted that the federal government would fail to enforce prohibition and today said "I feel as if my prediction has come true."

The drive for a change in federal liquor laws gained impetus today from an announcement by Senator Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, that he favors immediate repeal amendment and liberalization of the Volstead law.

Vandenberg's announcement, made in a formal statement, came as anti-prohibitionists in the House were seeking to have the Ways and Means committee draft a beer bill in time for presentation when Congress convenes.

May Draft Bill

Chairman Collier agreed to refer to committee members a suggestion from Representative O'Connor of New York, leader of the Democratic wet bloc, that the group meet before Congress convenes to draft a beer measure.

Vandenberg said he was in favor of "immediate resubmission of the eighteenth amendment" because "a just regard for the rights of majorities and the validity of law enforcement demands it."

The Michigan Senator voted last session against the proposals for legalizing and taxing beer, but on the last day of the session, after the party conventions, voted with the Senate majority to consider the resolution offered by Senator Glass (D. Va.) to repeal the eighteenth amendment and substitute a ban against the saloon.

Woodyatt was played on probation for a period of one year.

HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENTS
The cement platform, which will provide entertainment for patients at the Dixon state hospital with a fine roller skating floor, has been completed and has been covered for the winter months, in readiness to be opened in the spring. The wading pool has been practically completed and will be ready with the opening of spring. Only minor plumbing equipment is to be installed to complete the pool, which will provide entertainment for the hundreds of patients during the warm weather.

S. C. Stanfield, well known Dixon businessman, has purchased the City Laundry from Mrs. E. E. Gibson and will again be active in Dixon business circles. For many years Mr. Stanfield was the manager of the J. C. Penney Co. store in Dixon, resigning that position after a very successful administration. He is popular in Dixon and his many friends predict success for his new venture.

When interviewed this morning Mr. Stanfield stated that the City Laundry would continue to give the same high quality of service for which it has been noted in the past.

BOY DENIES MURDER

The trial was set for the second week of December.

SLAYER OF TWO PLEADS GUILTY: TO DIE MARCH 2

Indiana Court Disposed Of Murder Case
In Short Time

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 18—(AP)—John E. Moore, 29, was under sentence of death today, less than a week after he shot and killed his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Moore in their farm home near Pennville, Ind.

He pleaded guilty last night to an indictment charging murder committed during a robbery, an offense making a death penalty mandatory.

Judge E. W. Secrest of Blackford County Circuit court sentenced him to die in the electric chair at Indiana state prison at Michigan City, "before the hour of sunrise" March 2, 1933.

Arrested in Tower, Minn., last Monday, Moore was brought back to Hartford City yesterday. A Blackford county grand jury returned the indictment at 6:45 P. M. Moore entered the courtroom for his arraignment at 10:15 P. M., and the sentence was read a few minutes later.

His father, Ray Moore of Detroit, Mich., was not in the courtroom for the hearing. He had come from his home when he learned his son was arrested.

Moore told officers he was ordered from his uncle's farm October 25, after the farmer learned he had served sentences for forgery, burglary and larceny in reformatories in Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. He said, however, he "didn't know why" he killed his relatives last Friday night.

He denied he intended robbery but officers said dresser drawers in the farmhouse had been ransacked.

Libby Holman Plans To Return To Stage

New York, Nov. 18—(AP)—After the birth of her baby, in mid-January, Libby Holman will return to the stage, Ward Morehouse, Broadway columnist, states in an article in the New York Sun today.

With her father, Alfred Holman, retired lawyer of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Jenney, she left Montehamlin that day and motored to Maryland. Until last Tuesday she had spent most of her time since the indictment against her was handed down living in Iwallow on Mrs. Jenney's estate.

CHAS. ARNOULD TO BE LAID TO REST TOMORROW

Funeral Of A Former Dixon Man To Be Held At Ashton

The funeral of Charles E. Arnould of Rockford, formerly of Ashton and Dixon, who was found dead in his automobile parked on a country road nine miles north of Rockford yesterday, an apparent suicide, will be held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnould of Ashton at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, with burial in the Ashton cemetery.

Mr. Arnould, who at one time worked for the Dixon Evening Telegraph and later conducted a hatchery on North Galena Avenue in this city, was employed by the Texas Co. at Rockford at the time of his death, and according to Coroner Walter Julian of Winnebago, who continued the inquest until tomorrow afternoon, he had apparently shot himself in the right temple as he sat alone in his car. Burns about the wound and the presence of a revolver on the auto seat near his hand, caused this theory.

Found By Woman
The body was discovered by a woman motorist and apparently had been dead several hours.

Mr. Arnould was born in Ashton 40 years ago and was married to Miss Leila Lahman of Franklin Grove 16 years ago. Following his marriage he lived in Rockford, Peoria and Dixon, finally returning to the former city. During the Mexican border trouble in 1916 he was a member of the Illinois National Guard and was stationed in Texas.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Leila Arnould, a son, Lahman, 13, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnould, and a sister, Mrs. Eva Coe, Springfield, Ill.

He was married 37 years ago to Miss Savilla Butterbaugh, who preceded him in death five years ago. JUST HUNGRY

Boston—There's no telling what William Mahoney will do when he's hungry. When police found him he had broken the glass door of a restaurant and finished eating a pie and several ham sandwiches. When they walked in he was lighting a cigarette. "I was hungry," he explained.

the Weather

From the first three calls, it looked like a holocaust. The firemen set out, unaware that the students had merely set off a bonfire about two stories high, made up of scrap material and were quietly enough though brightly celebrating the annual event.

As an added excitement to high spirits, the good old eleven was going to take on Duquesne the next day, after being away some time and hopes were high that the Cardinal winning streak would be stretched out.

Boys Helped Firemen
When the first engine drew up alongside the bonfire, the students gleefully helped the firemen unroll the hose and dragged it around telephone poles and everything else they could find. The fire burned on merrily and eventually out.

Somebody called the cops. Policeman John Foster drove up alone in a light cruising car. The students, said his report to superiors, sought to turn it over on him, to which Foster objected vigorously and successfully, though he was handled somewhat roughly.

Other students, meanwhile, decided it would be fun to stop all street cars so they yanked off the trolleys as they passed and tied up all kinds of traffic while more police were coming.

Things soon were quieted down, but not until after a couple of arrests. Police refused to give out any names, explaining as neighbors that it was homecoming, they knew most of the students, and that "boys will be boys."

CHARGE DECKER WITH DEATH OF WM. ROBINSON

Former's Coat, Showing
Blood Stains,
Reported Found

Earl Decker of Rock Falls, who has served a sentence in the state penitentiary at Joliet, having been committed from the Lee County Circuit Court was yesterday afternoon held for the murder of his companion, William A. Robinson. Decker, his brother and attorney, former State's Attorney Robert Besse of Sterling, were leaving Rock Falls for Erie to attend the closing session of the coroner's inquisition yesterday afternoon, when Chief of Police Albert Berlin of Rock Falls served a warrant charging Decker with the murder of Robinson. The victim's mother had obtained the warrant from Justice Otto Castendyck's court in Sterling earlier in the day.

Decker was permitted to continue to Erie where the inquest was concluded and was then taken to the county jail at Morrison where he is held without bond. Coroner C. M. Frye concluded the inquest yesterday afternoon with the introduction of Robinson's finger prints taken when he was a prisoner at the Joliet penitentiary which positively identified the headless body. The verdict of the jury was as follows:

Find Decker's Coat

"We, the jury, find that William A. Robinson came to his death from a fractured skull and decapitation and recommend that Earl Decker be held as the slayer and that he be dealt with according to law."

A coat, said to have belonged to Decker, which was left at the cabin of John Coon, aged trapper south-east of Erie, on the banks of Rock river on the night of October 22, when Robinson was last seen alive, was reported to have important bearing on the brutal murder. Coon told Whiteside county authorities that Decker left the coat at his place on the Saturday night when he stayed with the trapper, leaving the next morning. Coon called Decker's attention to the coat as he prepared to return to his home in Rock Falls and Decker was reported to have stated that he would return later for it. The coat was said to have been blood-stained, and the result of a thorough investigation of this piece of wearing apparel will doubtless play an important part in the case, it was stated today.

HAS BAD RECORD

James Varecha was committed to the Dixon state hospital from the juvenile branch of the Cook County Circuit Court as a defective delinquent, records at the local institution revealed today, and of recent years has figured in numerous shooting affrays in Chicago. He was delivered to the Dixon state hospital January 4, 1932 and escaped one month later. At the local institution today it was learned that a brother, Frank Varecha, visited here on several occasions during James' period of detention, and argued with members of the staff, claiming his brother had been "framed." Frank visited him on the date of his first escape from the institution one month after being received, and the hospital authorities were of the opinion that the elder brother devised the plan of escape. James, according to the institution records, had been prominent in various difficulties before his commitment.

Varecha was returned to the local institution on July 26 with other fugitives from Cook county and when the bus almost stopped at the corner of Seventh street and Galena avenue, he leaped through a window and attempted to escape. He was recaptured after a chase and taken to the hospital. On August 3 of this year, he and two other patients, escaped a second time. Relatives advised the institution officials that James had been heard from in Minneapolis, Minn., and South Haven, Mich., and that upon his return to Chicago, that they would arrange for his return to Dixon. His record before commitment shows that he was involved in repeated truntings, shootings and purse snatchings. After his second escape, the brother Frank, advised the institution officials that James had been taken from the institution by a syndicate of Chicago mobsters, who sought to use him in their operations, taking advantage of his mental condition. Later, after his recapture, the brother urged the local officials to intercede in James' behalf, to bring about his return to Dixon, and

Union Meeting Missionary Societies M. E. Chu. Wednes. Eve

On Wednesday evening, the Woman's Home Missionary Society the Wesleyans, and the Queen Esther girls met together in a union meeting at the Methodist church. At 6:30 a cafeteria supper was enjoyed by one hundred, thirty-three members and friends.

The meeting opened with singing of "I Love to Tell the Story." Rev. Knapp led the devotional service using as his subject "The Trust Funds and Safety Deposit of the Church," which was based on the first chapter of Second Timothy.

They were next favored by two violin solos played by Miss Leota Rutt, accompanied by Mrs. Guy Dalton.

Six ladies of the W. R. C. were present. Mrs. Fred Hobbs, president of the Wesleyans, introduced Mrs. Jones of the W. R. C., president who in turn introduced Mrs. Earl Aummen, patriotic instructor of the Corps, who presented a beautiful American flag to the Woman's Home Missionary Society. Mrs. H. D. Bills, president of the W. H. M. S., spoke a few words of acceptance. All joined in giving the Salute to the Flag and singing "America."

Mrs. Knapp, accompanied by C. A. Thomas sang "O, Grateful Heart," which suggested the spirit of Thanksgiving. Mrs. W. H. Hintz described the stereotypical pictures which showed the homes, schools, hospitals, orphanages, and other institutions supported by the Home Missionary Society.

The offering was received by the Q. E. girls and Rev. Knapp dismissed the meeting with the Benediction.

Mrs. Wysong Succeeds Dr. Wy-song as Coroner

Missouri City, Mo. Nov. 18—(AP)—It's up to Dr. W. L. Wysong to keep the pot boiling now. And all because his wife has been elected Clay county Coroner, the first woman, she believes, to hold that office in the nation.

For 32 years, while her husband made numerous night calls both as a private physician and as Coroner, Mrs. Wysong always kept a pot of hot coffee ready for him when he returned. Now that she has succeeded him as Coroner, she announces she will do all the work entailed, day or night. The county makes no provision for a Deputy Coroner.

Noting that a Coroner's duties often require service in the capacity of Sheriff, she said: "I suppose I will be required to carry a revolver and holster on these occasions but there have been many women sheriffs, so I should have nothing to fear from that part of the work."

Classes Honor Birthday of Member

The Willing Workers class of the Congregational church entertained with a supper in the church parlors Wednesday evening, honoring the birthday of one of the members. The Helping Hand and Christian Leaders classes were invited guests. Following the tempting supper, games were played and the guest of honor was the recipient of many wishes for many more happy birthdays.

Prince of Wales Almost Mobbed by Irish Mill Girls

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Prince of Wales was almost mobbed by a rollicking crowd of Irish working girls today when he set out on another expedition among the populace this morning to "see things for himself" despite protests against his visit here.

The vivacious and smiling girls excitedly swarmed all over the Prince's car when it arrived in front of a linen thread works in Lisburn.

The girls clung to the mudguards, jumped on the running boards and climbed on the baggage grid to get a glimpse of the popular heir to the British throne. The Prince smiled throughout the incident and then inspected the plant. As he came out the throng of girl workers again crushed around him and detectives had to push their way through the crowd to open a lane for the Prince and his party to walk to the royal car.

Elks Supper and Card Party Success

The Elks picnic supper for members and families and friends followed by an evening of bridge last evening at the Elks club proved a most enjoyable and successful affair.

The tempting supper was thoroughly enjoyed and at bridge Mrs. Robert Esby received the high favor for the ladies; and Mrs. Edward Decker received the consolation favor. For the gentlemen M. M. Memler received the favor for high honors; and H. M. Walder received the consolation favor.

TURNING CRITICISM INTO MONEY.

Mrs. Eddie Conn of Chicago went to a night club one evening and didn't like the music. Thereupon she achieved a career.

Mrs. Conn told her husband she could compose a better song than the one the orchestra was playing. She wrote it on the back of a menu card, took it to a song publisher and presently the song was a hit. Mrs. Conn, who writes music under a pen name, now has several hits to her credit. Telling the story of that first attempt at musical composition the other day she said, "I'm glad the music in that night club was so bad."

Probably plenty of other people have been annoyed by the sounds of blatant orchestras. Probably also though they had tried to write something better they would not have found publishers. Mrs. Conn, however had the courage of her convictions. How many men and women, convinced they can do something as well or better than their neighbors, fail to put their convictions to the test? They bemoan others' failures. They criticize, but they don't set to work.

Mrs. Conn did—and has been rewarded. There's a lesson in that for those who would write songs or "build a better mouse trap."

REORGANIZING THE RAILROADS.

It is evident that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has no intention of carrying fixed railroad charges indefinitely. Appointment of a receiver for the Frisco road indicates that the government's lending agency is not going to hesitate to demand extensive reorganization of the roads' financial structures whenever that appears necessary.

It had been hoped, in recent weeks, that increases in railroad traffic would make extensive reorganizations of that kind unnecessary; and it is probably quite true that even a slight continuance of recent industrial gains would take most railroads out of the red.

Nevertheless, there are cases in which it is quite evident that a sizable slice of a railroad's business is gone forever; and in such cases, where the financial structure is such that operations can only be conducted at a loss, some sort of reorganization seems inevitable.

SLOGANS—AND FACTS!

England, as everybody knows, is pushing an energetic campaign to persuade all Englishmen to buy only articles which have been made in England. As a part of this campaign, the slogan "Buy British!" is stamped on every letter that passes through the British postoffices.

But it developed not long ago that the machines which stamp the letters bear the label, "Made in the U. S. A."

And that, after all, is about the way things are apt to happen in any such campaigns. It is all right to insist that you will buy only goods made in your own locality; but if someone from far away offers you better stuff for the same price you are likely to buy from him, and all the slogans in the world aren't going to stop you.

People are really buying and trading property for the erection of breweries and we are doing the best business since prohibition was passed. —John F. Hunt, brewery equipment manufacturer.

Let no man tell you it could not be worse. It could be so much worse that these days now, distressing as they are, would look like veritable prosperity. —President Herbert Hoover.

The mind of mature men and women should be like a first-class hotel; open all the year round to every guest except criminals. —Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University.

Neither the League of Nations nor any other power can change our determination to pursue our established aims in Manchuria. —General Nobuyoshi Muto, supreme Japanese military and diplomatic representative in Manchuria.

Capital and the men who fight in the trenches must bear equally the burden of our next war, if there is one. —Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war.

Germany will carry out measures necessary for national defense under all circumstances; we will no longer put up with being treated as a second-class nation. —General Kurt von Schleicher, Germany's minister of defense.

It may take the return of the liquor traffic, a liquor orgy, before they (the states) are convinced that conditions are best under prohibition. —Dr. William Hyde Russell, founder of Anti-Saloon League.

By supplying Russia with machinery and experts the other countries are creating a Frankenstein monster that will devour them industrially. —Carvath Wells, lecturer.

There are signs that there will be a return of barbarism in the fine arts. —Alfred Noyes, British poet.

When The Stars Model, Black Is Their Choice

Black gowns that are different were worn by stage stars at the fashion show for the benefit of the Actors' Dinner Fund in New York. (Left) Ermine sleeves made original puffs, with the ermine tails flying like streamers, on a sheath-like gown of black velvet, worn by Selena Royal. (Right) Draped armholes, sparkling buttons, and a slashed skirt were outstanding features of a gorgeously crinkled black crepe gown worn by Helen Broderick.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — A scholarly and affable man, a familiar figure around the capital for a number of years, more than likely has set down as his favorite maxim—"All comes to him who waits."

He is Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, Nicaraguan minister to the United States and just elected president of that republic.

The lanky doctor who received his education in the United States and who is fond of saying that this is his "second native land," thus returns to govern a country whence he fled some seven years ago. Sacasa was vice president of Nicaragua back in 1925 when Gen. Chamorro staged a coup d'etat and took over the government of the country. Sacasa then left the country for Mexico.

His departure changed the political course of his country and maybe the policy of the American government toward Nicaragua. Sacasa's absence led to the recognition by the United States of the government under the presidency of Diaz. Under the Nicaraguan constitution, which provided that upon the absence of the president and vice president, the congress shall designate one of its members to complete the unexpired term, Diaz was recognized by the United States.

Sacasa contended that he was the constitutional president. It is interesting to speculate now that it is all over, just what would have happened had Sacasa remained in his native country in 1925.

He might have ascended to the presidency then instead of seven years later. The United States might have given him moral if not actual physical support to hold on to his government. United States marines might not have been dispatched to supervise subsequent elections in that country.

Henry L. Sinsom, might not have been sent into Nicaragua as personal representative of President Coolidge. And had he not brought peace between warring factions there and been rewarded for his efforts by being made governor-general of the Philippines, President Hoover, who had never

The closing years of the epoch that ended in the World War make, when you look at them from this distance a gaudy and exciting show—a show, furthermore, in which the spotlight was focused chiefly upon the energetic figure of Theodore Roosevelt.

Mark Sullivan gives you an excellent view of the whole show, and especially of the above-mentioned chief actor, in Volume Four of "Our Times."

This volume covers the years 1909 to 1914. It tells you what we were in those days, what songs we sang, what books we read.

Brown Catches Debs' Fancy

Brown Kid Accessories Score High in Fashion

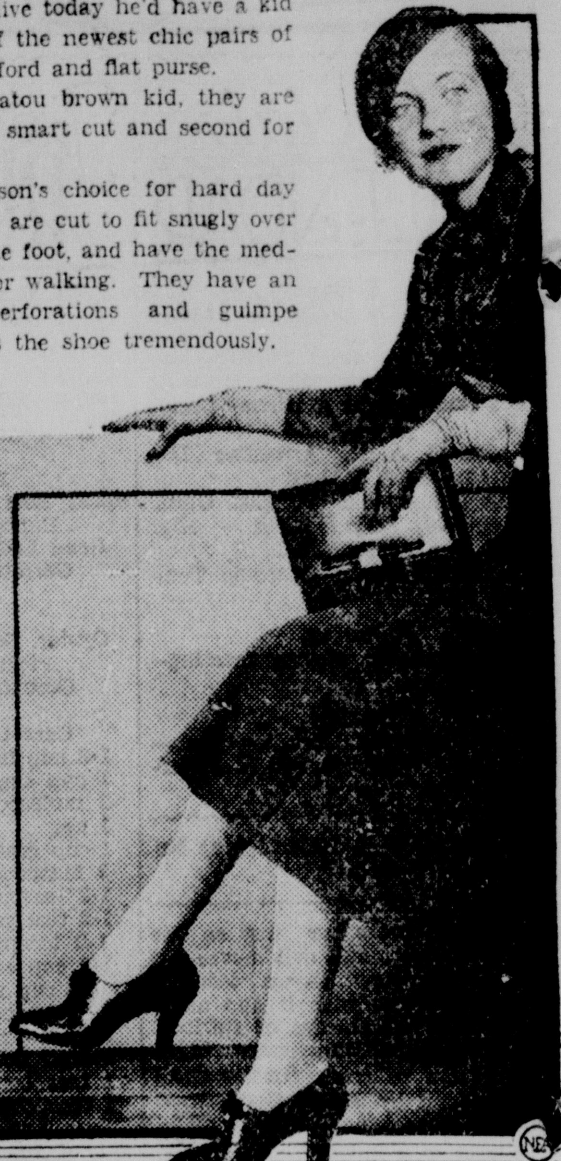

If Kid Boots were alive today he'd have a kid purse to match! One of the newest chic pairs of accessories is this kid oxford and flat purse.

Made of the new Patou brown kid, they are distinctive first for their smart cut and second for their restrained trim.

Oxfords are the season's choice for hard day wear this winter. These are cut to fit snugly over the ankle and around the foot, and have the medium heel that is easy for walking. They have an attractive design of perforations and guimpe stitching which enriches the shoe tremendously.

The purse is one of those with space for everything inside, a center section for money, pockets for cards, mirror, a section for letters or papers. It repeats the stitching of the shoes and has a neat, attractive fastener.

Since the new mode calls for matching shoes and purses to your coat and hats to your dresses, these shoes and purse would be the perfect accompaniment to a pink coat, to a sports tweed or to one of those new soft woolen coats with lavish fur trim.

Government Moves To Protect Airmen

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Adventurous airmen planning hazardous flights to foreign lands will have to pass strict government scrutiny in the future and may be denied permission if the undertaking seems too risky.

The Aeronautics Branch of the Department of Commerce served notice today that it will exercise closer supervision over preparations for such flights by Americans than it has in the past.

Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, said the action would be taken under an amendment to the air commerce regulations which requires the owner of pilot to secure authorization from the Department for Foreign Flight except on regularly scheduled operations.

Young said the amendment was designed to discourage inexperienced pilots and inadequately equipped aircraft from attempting trans-oceanic flights. The department heretofore has kept a close watch on such flights but has not officially intervened in the preparations.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The little stunt of teetering upon the rim made Duncy sing a funny song of happiness, and this is how it went:

"I love to teeter. Ho, ho, ho! Right down I go. Then, up I go! Each time that Scouty hits the ground, up in the air I'm sent."

"Of course we have to hang on tight, so everything will be all right. I'd hate to take a tumble 'cause 'twould flop me on the ground."

"This ride is one I wouldn't miss, as long as we can ride like this. A better ride on anything I'm sure we've never found."

And then his song came to an end. The melon slice began to bend. "Look out! The melon's breaking," Scouty cried. "What can we do?"

But ere they even looked around, the two lads landed on the ground. The teetering was over 'cause the melon broke in two.

Wee Scouty jumped up to his feet and said, "Oh, well, it was a treat. The little fall did us no harm. I guess we shouldn't kick." And then he added, "Listen, boys! I hear a very funny noise. It's coming up in that tree and sounds like click, click, click."

They made a search. 'Twas not in vain. "Why, it's a squirrel and it's in pain," cried Scouty. "I will climb the tree and see what I can do."

The others helped him up the tree and shouted, "Tell us what you see. And be real careful with the squirrel 'cause it might nip at you."

"It didn't take kind Scouty long to look and find out what was wrong. A branch had pinched the squirrel's paw, which was a real mean trick."

"Don't cry," said Scouty. "You will see that I will shortly set you free. Just let me spread the limb apart. I'll do it mighty quick."

(The Times help the squirrel store nuts in the next story.)

How To Get Relief From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, you should know this simple home treatment which frequently overcomes these distressing conditions. ## Teaching Privacy Is a Problem

It is not much wonder that children become confused about what to tell and what not to tell.

"Johnny, did you tell Mrs. Smith we were going to California this winter?"

"No, mom, but I told her daddy still owed a hundred dollars on the car and he said they could whistle for the rest."

Johnny was intrigued by the word. He was repeating what he thought was dramatic and what had appeal for him. The values of social prestige, as yet, were not selective.

"Mary, you need not say anything to Mrs. Johnson about that dress being your cousin Louise's."

"I didn't, mother. I told her some body gave it to me, but I didn't know who."

Truth is Misunderstood. If children are old enough I believe we can instruct them very carefully and very cautiously in the art of privacy of affairs. But sometimes I think the cost of such instruction if attempted too early, is too dear.

Such children have a feeling that no matter what anyone asks them they must lie. They get the feeling eventually that all truth, somehow, is something to be stingy with, and that anything they tell others about family affairs must be perverted and twisted.

It comes high this honesty of children. I know that. We never had a secret. The whole street, the entire town, used to know just when our pay day was, when the latest new dress I sported was one of "Aunt Sue's" made over, when my husband had a salary cut, or was behind with a bill.

"Embarrassing moments" When I went out I used to think, "What's the use? This is a snappy pocketbook, but everybody knows by this time that I picked it up at the rummage sale for thirty cents."

One day the "stocking man" came for the regular order. I always got a special brand from him each year for the children. I wanted to change but I didn't want to offend him.

I told the little maid to tell him I had something else in mind that year and was sorry. That day I had a headache and as he was a very insistent person I could not stand an argument.

RESCUE OF OLD SALEM IS WELL UNDER WAY NOW

Village Will Be the Same As It Was In Days Of "Abe" Lincoln

Old Salem, Ill., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The deserted village of Old Salem, where Abraham Lincoln met and loved Ann Rutledge and where he won the village wrestling championship, is coming back to life.

In accordance with a pledge made by the state legislature nineteen years ago, Governor Louis Lincoln Emmerson came yesterday to lay a cornerstone, signaling a rescue of the old village from the disintegrating influences of time.

"Illinois," he said in a dedication address prepared for delivery, "has no greater wealth than the example left us by the immortal Lincoln, and no historic shrine more important than those attached to his name."

The village, once called "New Salem," but now known as "Old Salem," is to look just as it did when Lincoln established his ability as a wrestler. Log homes and shops atop the hill above the Sangamon river are to be of hewn oak, of dimensions duplicating the originals. Narrow road ways will be remade to resemble the one door to the other, and the interiors will be furnished in accordance with the time they represent.

Land Donated To State

Twenty-six years ago today's redevelopment was envisioned by William Randolph Hearst, who later purchased the tract of land including the site of the historic village, and presented it to the Old Salem Historical Society, which, in 1906, offered it to the state for restoration. The offer was accepted that same year by enactment of a bill appropriating $50,000 authorizing the work. Nineteen years passed and no work was done, except the construction of a museum and custodian's building.

Reverence of Lincoln's memory prompted Governor Emmerson to plan for the restoration, completion of which will depend upon his successor, Judge Henry Horner of Chicago, recently elected Governor of Illinois in the Democratic landslide, as well as upon appropriation of another $50,000. The work contemplated today is to cost $28,987, and will take about six months to complete.

Hoover Sent Greetings

President Hoover sent his greetings and compliments to the crowd assembled for the dedication program. Those present included many students of Lincoln's life.

Two and a half months of research by the State Architect's force gave full confidence that the plans for the restoration are exact. Foundation stones were uncovered for evidence. Workmen who improved the grounds and made excavations were interviewed, and old settlers who remember Old Salem as it was in Lincoln's day cooperated in the work.

Special care is to be given to the Onstott cooper shop in which Lincoln worked problems on the back of a shovel by the light from the fireplace. It still stands in its original form, and a shelter will be built around it to preserve it for the future. The buildings to be restored with hewn logs are those of

Health is half of success

Few men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red and green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ONLY CHURCH IN BRADFORD TOWN IS BEING RAZED

Lumber To Be Used For New Building In Village Of Ashton

Ashton Gazette—The Bradford Evangelical church which was erected about forty years ago will soon be but a memory. It was sold recently to William Klingebiel of Ashton who is tearing the building down and will use the lumber for the erection of a repair shop here.

The work of taking the building down has been hindered by the recent cold spell and the work is only about half done. The foundations for the building Mr. Klingebiel will erect were poured Monday. The building will be 28x40 and will be erected on the corner vacant lot next to the implement store.

The Bradford church which has long been a landmark in that township is the only church edifice within its borders and was built in 1893. The first pastor was Rev. Berbeich. A number of retired Ashton citizens who were then young farmers in Bradford assisted in the building of the edifice. The old Evangelical Association church which stood across the road for many years ago was torn down long years ago and was rebuilt as a church at Malta.

As many of the prominent members of the Bradford church retired to Ashton they became identified with the church here. The advent of the automobile and good roads made it more desirable for the young folks of these pioneers to attend the church in town which had become the church home of the parents.

Church services were maintained until five years ago when they were discontinued during the third year's pastorate of Rev. J. F. Van Eyra. The pews and hymn books were transferred to the local Evangelical church.

The passing of the edifice will recall many fond memories as well as expressions of regret.

JOHN MCKINLAY, PRESIDENT OF MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY, SAYS:

"There are many who speak of a new economic era and some who feel that somehow business operation may be controlled in the future so that peaks of prosperity and depths of depression may be avoided.

"So far, I have not seen a program for such regulation that has interested me very much.

"Human nature will continue to be pretty much as it is now, and if we attain a new and higher degree of prosperity, the chances are that we will indulge in greater excesses than ever before and again relapse into a period of readjustment and liquidation."

Introducing Next President Of United States

(Editor's Note:—This is the fourth of six articles on President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, revealing little incidents in his everyday life, his traits of character, philosophies and his interests.)

By WALTER T. BROWN
(Associated Press Staff Writer Who Accompanied Roosevelt On His Campaign)

Albany.—(AP)—To President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt his physical condition was a situation to be met and nothing more.

He seldom refers now to a handicap in his walking, the result of an infantile paralysis attack he suffered some ten years ago. When he does, he speaks in a detached way. Only once during the campaign did he directly refer to it. That was at Seattle when he stopped to talk with crippled children at a hospital.

Sitting in his automobile and looking down on the invalids on cots and in wheel chairs clustered around him he said: "I too have known what it is not to be able to walk."

While campaigning, Mr. Roosevelt was greeted at Worcester,

Mass., by 8-year-old Kathryn T. Murphy. He already knew Kathryn because she had suffered from infantile paralysis and Mr. Roosevelt had written her a letter of commendation when she later offered her blood to other patients.

"Hello, Kathryn, how are you?" came the greeting from Mr. Roosevelt. "Keep up your courage. You are going to get well."

The President-Elect then told Kathryn that he and the mayor of Worcester would arrange to send her to a hospital. Mr. Roosevelt had founded in Warm Springs, Ga. So Kathryn is looking eagerly forward to restored health.

Once, on an up-state inspection tour, Mr. Roosevelt stopped at a Watertown hospital to see a state trooper whose back had been broken in a motorcycle accident. The year before he had ridden as an escort to the Governor.

The trooper, in a wheel chair was rolled out to the Roosevelt car.

The Governor, leaning far out of his seat, talked in a low tone but the final words were caught by those near by. They were: "Don't quit fighting, my boy. I know what it is. Let me hear from you."

APPENDICITIS IN CHILDREN

If a youngster suffers an attack of tonsillitis or an infection of the upper respiratory tract, and then complains of a gastric upset, do not under any circumstances treat him with a cathartic, for he may have developed an acute appendicitis.

The relationship in children of appendicitis to acute upper respiratory infections appears to be well established by wide clinical experience. Though the involved parts of the body appear remote from each other, physiologically the relationship is not difficult to understand.

Acute upper respiratory infections are quite common in the newborn.

For this reason exacting care is taken in maternity hospitals that the infants be not exposed to infection from visitors or any of the hospital staff suffering from colds.

When the infants are sent home their usual history is a series of respiratory infections.

When the tonsils become involved, it is not exceptional for a certain amount of the infectious material to get into the blood stream.

This infectious material is not sufficient to cause blood poisoning, but, lodging in regions rich in lymphatic tissue, it may cause secondary inflammatory developments.

At times we find the entire gastro-intestinal tract involved during a cold. This condition is sometimes called intestinal or abdominal grip.

Again, the appendix in particular may suffer, giving rise to appendicitis.

The degree of appendicitis and its severity depend upon the amount of infection to which the appendix has been subjected and upon the nature and virulence of the infecting bacteria.

The symptoms of appendicitis in children are not markedly different from appendicitis in the adult, but the infant and the child are not as articulate and do not as clearly express their complaints.

Vomiting is a common symptom.

Says Bankers Dominate Corporations, Control All Wages

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 17—(AP)—Bankers are accused of dominating labor policies in a report considered today by the convention of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor. The report, submitted by James O'Connell, departmental president, says in part:

"When bankers believe wages should be reduced, the corporations are practically compelled to agree. When corporations believe the wages should be advanced and the hours of labor reduced, the bankers' consent must be secured before the changes are made. The banker's influence on questions of business and labor policy has become more and more dominant, as commerce and industry have increasingly depended upon them for credit."

O'Connell's report recommended an increase in overtime wages for metal workers, time and a half for the first half hour, double for the second, triple for the third "and so on."

Sessions were opened today also by the label and building trades departments of the A. F. L. in preparation for the general convention of the federation, which begins here Monday.

Shorter working days with higher wages and education of the public to buy from concerns which demand union labor are among the programs to be considered by the label trades department, according to John J. Manning, Washington, its secretary.

Roosevelt To Attend Lehman Inauguration

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 17—(AP)—For the first time, a President-elect is going to take part in New York's ancient biennial custom of formally inaugurating a Governor. Franklin D. Roosevelt, serving his last few weeks as Governor of New York before vacating that office for the presidency, has promised to be present at the inauguration of the man he endorsed as his successor at Albany, Herbert H. Lehman.

"Sure," he said. "You bet I'm going to attend. Besides, it's always been customary."

Three of the four Presidents who have come from New York State to the White House have been Governors, but it remains present to be the first President to be inaugurated in New York before vacating that office for the presidency, has promised to be present at the inauguration of the man he endorsed as his successor at Albany, Herbert H. Lehman.

Expirations of gubernatorial terms in advance of the inauguration or resignation from the governorship resulted in Martin Van Buren, Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt playing no part in the ceremonies of inducting a new Governor into office after they had been named to the presidency. Millard Fillmore was never Governor of New York.

Business Is About "Holding Its Own"

New York, Nov. 17—(AP)—Inquiring editors of 115 trade and industrial magazines throughout the United States reported that business in mid-November was just about holding its own.

The Associated Business Papers of New York, which received the reports from various parts of the country, noted today that:

"Electric power consumption indicates a continuing slight increase in manufacturing, especially of textiles, leather and steel. Energy production is now only 6.3 under a year ago, a gain of 7 per cent in two weeks. Coal production is tapering off after an active October."

"The oil industry is further stabilized by stronger control of production, particularly by the new taxes 'market demand' bill which has just become law."

"Strengthening of commodity prices, particularly on ingredients has reduced destructive price wars in the baking industry. Purchases of materials and equipment are on the upgrade."

A MUTUAL FRIGHT
Vancouver, B. C. — Dogs had been raiding Mrs. Murray Harris' outdoor larder and she was determined to put a stop to it. Hearing a dog sniffing around outside her kitchen door recently she selected a large chunk of stove wood and darted to the door. Opening the door she almost fell into the outstretched arms of a huge black bear. With a scream she slammed the door and made a dash for her bedroom, but Bruin was making an equally excited dash in the opposite direction.

JUST STARTING
New York — Mrs. Foster Bain believes that age is no handicap to flying an airplane. The 50-year-old grandmother has a plane of her own and, moreover, operates it herself. She is said to have more than 200 hours of solo flying to her credit.

TWO SELF-MADE
RECLUSE SISTERS
ARE FOUND DEADDaughters Of A Toronto
Grocer Shut Out The World Long Ago

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 18.—(AP)—

Death, stealing upon them from a world they shut out for 30 years, has struck down the Misses Emma and Amelia Richardson, spinster sisters for whom time stopped at the year 1902.

In an old house which they made a hermitage of Victorianism in a bewildering world of modernity, the sisters, 76 and 74 years old, were found dead yesterday, clad in the bustles and ruffles of a vanished day.

Today authorities decided that it was gas, one of the few conveniences in the quaint house, that caused their death. A partly opened burner on the kitchen range and the positions of the frail bodies told the story.

Miss Amelia, the younger sister, had fallen in the old-fashioned kitchen. Her hand clutched a box of pills, as though she had felt herself growing faint and misunderstood the cause.

Miss Emma, mentally ill for many years because of the shock of a brother's death, is believed to have smelled the fumes as she lay in an upstairs bedroom. She wandered to the head of the stairs and toppled down. Her body, with the neck broken, lay not far from a what-not filled with bric-a-brac.

A grocer's boy, knocking in vain at the door, became alarmed and summoned police. They had to break down barred doors to get in the house.

The sisters turned the key on the world 30 years ago, and had rarely been seen since. On the death of their father, owner of a grocery in the days when Toronto was known as Muddy York, they moved with their mother, another sister, and a brother into the old house.

One of the sisters married, and the mother, it is said, disinherited her. Miss Amelia and Miss Emma "knew their duty" better. They stayed at home. After a year or two their mother died, and then the brother. The death of the latter was a blow from which Miss Emma's mind never recovered. Her younger sister had to care for her throughout the years.

Visitors Not Allowed
 They never left the house together, neighbors said, and no visitor ever was known to be admitted. They spent long evenings in the darkened house, sitting by a window, gazing on a world they could not understand, but could not quite forget. At other times they could be glimpsed moving about in their old finery in the glow of gaslight.

When the police broke down the door, they found the house furnished with old mahogany tables, artificial flowers covered with glass bowls, large gilt clocks and gilt parlor furniture, relics of another era.

Hardship, apparently, had come to the sisters in later years. Investigation showed the house had been unheated for many days. Failing strength may have been the cause of this, for the sisters had bought a government annuity, and received old age pensions.

Week-end MURDER

GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 The story opens with a prologue in which a murder is committed by a homicidal maniac. Later he boards a train for Long Island, thinking of the pleasant week-end he is to have there. The name of the murderer is not disclosed.

The scene shifts to the Long Island home of LINDA and TOM AYERHILL, married three years and much in love. The Ayerhills have five guests for the week-end: COUSIN AMOS PEARBODY, elderly, distant relative of Linda's; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian representing a European perfume manufacturer with whom Ayerhill hopes to do business; MR. STANTLANDER, middle-aged manager of the firm Ayerhill works for; MARVIN PRATT, former suitor of Linda's; and LIAN SHAUGHNESSY, Irish writer on a lecture tour.

The house party gets off to a bad start. Cousin Amos starts a heated argument with Shaughnessy whom he denounces as a dangerous rebel for defending Gandhi's work in India. Next morning Bunty, the watch dog, is found brutally killed. Cousin Amos plays golf with Stantlander, criticizing the other's game until Stantlander breaks a club in disgust. At the Country Club Cousin Amos drinks several cocktails without knowing they are alcoholic and then insults De Vos. Tom finally persuades De Vos to overlook the insult. It is agreed that Cousin Amos will leave early next morning. The others, meanwhile, prepare for the Country Club dance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX
 "I CERTAINLY feel a benefactor—bringing four presentable, intelligent, unattached men. The women will mob me."

Linda looked around the large, low-lit room opening on the broad veranda—broad as the room itself—which in turn hung over the twinkling lights of several little boat landings and one long impressive wharf at which a fine white yacht soberly swayed under the pull of the tide.

The words were hardly spoken before events justified her belief in the predatory instincts of her sex. Coming firmly toward them was one of the club's most determined hostesses and converging on the party from different sides were two equally militant mammas, while a soft, delicate gurgling of laughter just behind informed Linda that—as usual—Fleur Stoner had outgeneraled them all and reached the goal first.

It was hard for Linda, honest as she was, to decide just what she thought of Fleur Stoner. Always she admired the girl's beauty—and sometimes her nerve. Frequently Linda was exasperated enough to box her ears and on rare occasions, when some audacious bit of selfishness completely outraged her, she could have seen the beautiful Fleur torn limb from limb without a tremor. This was one of the times when Fleur merely amused her. It was so like the clever, calculating creature to conceal herself on the porch—not to hail them as they entered but to slip smoothly into the group so that to the approaching hunters she actually seemed to be a part of it.

And her strategy (Linda knew that Fleur would regard recognition of it as a compliment)

Linda's original group dissolved rapidly. The Belgian moved away beside Fleur, stunning in that curious olive green gown that by all laws of justice should be so unbefitting to her. Marvin disappeared with the daughter of Mamma No. 1—a young lady who for all her apparent artlessness needed no water-tight maneuvering to aid her. Mr. Stantlander—surprisingly discovered to be very fond of dancing indeed—solemnly trotting with a charming little widow; and Lian Shaughnessy—just what had been of him in the shuffle? Oh, yes—Ella Mondell who should have been his week-end hostess had pounced upon him as her lawful prey (just like Ella, having ducked the responsibility to claim her guest when he could be usefully and led him out to the porch where her own party was assembled. That accounted for all that Fleur would regard recognition of it as a compliment)

DIXON BOWLERS BEAT STERLING IN GREAT GAME

Display Of Strikes Is Feature Of Contest Wednesday Night

The Dixon Recreation bowling team motored to Sterling Wednesday night and engaged in what was classed as the biggest display of strikes in many a match. John Forster of Sterling was the outstanding star of the evening. Starting his series with 176 he came back strong in his second game with 246 and just when things were getting the most critical he laid in eight consecutive strikes in his last game on the first eight balls delivered, cracking on the ninth delivery. But this was not Forster's fault, the ball was thrown into the one-three pocket just like the other eight had been. He finished with two more for a classy count of 265, which greatly hindered Dixon's chances, until they also found the pocket. Senneff 188, Wachsback 180, Detweiler 211, Chapman 202 and Worley 222 for a big team count of 993. Sterling getting 995, and Dixon winning by 9 pins. Their lead of 11 pins after the second game had been totaled helping considerably in the final grind. Worley was the only other bowler rolling over the 200 mark, getting 613 for his series. A return series will be rolled on the local alleys Saturday night of this week, the match to start at 8:00 P. M.

A twin bill will be scheduled for Thanksgiving night at the Sterling Coliseum alleys when ten local stars will again invade Sterling's grounds for another battle.

NAVY HOPES TO SPRING UPSET AGAINST IRISH

While Rambler Coach Is Not Too Optimistic Over Game

Cleveland, Nov. 18—(AP)—Seventy-five gridiron warriors from Notre Dame, and nearly half a hundred determined football players representing Navy, were due to alight from Pullman cars here today, prepared to do battle on the morrow.

As far as Cleveland is concerned, it's going to be another of those "battles of the century" with a crowd of 65,000 and possibly 80,000 forecast.

Everything is in readiness for the combat, except the weather. There was a possibility of rain but only a threat, not a promise. And anyhow, seven-eighths of the Municipal Stadium, where the game will be played, is covered.

Navy's approach to the contest reflected an attitude of confidence that it will spring a surprise and defeat the Ramblers.

"All Navy followers have been heartened by the team's progress as shown in the Columbia game and since," said Lieut. Commander J. L. Hall, graduate manager of Athletics at the Academy, "Navy is determined to put on a do-or-die fight. Two weeks of rest follow before our Army game, whereas Notre Dame must meet Army in one week. We don't need to hold in or save anyone."

Notre Dame, however, was rated the favorite, but there was no surplus of confidence held by its coach, Hunk Anderson.

"I'll be satisfied to win by any score and I won't be surprised to see them take us if our luck doesn't hold out," he said. "We won our last two games, with Kansas and Northwestern, on luck—not on great football."

Five Years Ago Today—Blackness, an 11 to 1 shot, won the English Derby Cup handicap before a record crowd in England. The race brought a cup and $4,000 to the winner.

Ten Years Ago Today—Princeton beat Yale in their annual struggle by the thin margin of a field goal from the 18-yard line. Score, 3-0. Brown turned the same trick on Harvard, scoring from the 20-yard line on a field goal and winning by the same score.

In the five years during which Dr. "Fat" Spears coached football teams at the University of Minnesota, the Gophers never lost a game to Wisconsin. Now that Dr. "Fat" Spears is coaching at Wisconsin, maybe the Gophers will not win any more games from the Badgers.

Certainly the doctor got a good start toward turning the tables when his smart Badger eleven sent Minnesota back recently, 20 to 13.

BUT SO DIFFERENT—

The Wisconsin team he put on the field this year, after he had been absent for a couple of years at Oregon, was almost the same club, so far as personnel was concerned, as the team that went nowhere last year. The difference was that this year's team seems to know what it's all about. It is a fine blocking team with a strong line, and is well grounded in what the boys call the fundamentals.

The margin by which Wisconsin lost that thriller to Purdue was a dropped forward pass near the goal line. And that kind of thing can happen to any team.

The doctor is one of the Kewanee, Ill., boys who made good in the big city. In high school he was just one of those fellows who stand next to the center and punch an aperture in the opposing beef through which many a half-back galloped to glory.

He was the same at Dartmouth except that he won the honor of being named All-American guard for another battle.

EVEN CONTEST AT ROCK FALLS IS EXPECTATION

Dixon Football Teams In A Double Header There Tomorrow

By DON HILLIKER

Making their first of two trips to the Twin Cities within a week Dixon's prep gridders travel to Rock Falls for a doubleheader tomorrow afternoon, starting at 1:00 o'clock. It marks the final game of the schedule for the B team with the heaviest competing their work five days later in the Thanksgiving argument at Sterling.

Both major opponents in Saturday's fray landed in the runnerup position of their respective conferences. Dixon tied with Sterling in the N. C. I. C.; Rock Falls was barely nosed out of the Rock River title, losing to Polo 13-12 in the deciding game.

Comparative records tend toward an evenly matched contest tomorrow P. M. Dixon's record shows five wins, a loss and tie. Amboy, Mendota, Belvidere, Rochelle and Savanna were defeated, DeKalb registered the loss and Sterling and Dixon struggled to a scoreless deadlock. Rock Falls won over Amboy, Mt. Morris, Morrison, Oregon and Lyons. Lost to Sterling and Polo and tied Community of Sterling.

Couple Of Giants Meet In N. Y. Ring

New York, Nov. 18—(AP)—A couple of behemoths, Primo Carnera and Jose Santa, try to amuse the spectators in Madison Square Garden tonight in what has been described in the advance notices as a boxing contest.

Primo's 261 pounds will keep intact his record of always out-weighting his opponent but the vast Venetian will have to make one astonishing physical concession. At six feet six and one-half inches he'll have to look up at the Portuguese whose mean altitude is six feet eight inches. Santa weighs 250 pounds.

The match is scheduled for 10 rounds but if it goes that far there will be plenty of red faces among the experts. They are picking Primo to win early.

Five preliminaries of six rounds each will precede the main collision.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"

He was an excellent blocker himself, and his Wisconsin team this year shows that he has been able to pass on his talents of other able boys.

Spears started coaching at Dartmouth shortly after the war, with Major Cavanaugh, and the major was a pretty good man from whom to learn. When Cavanaugh left, Spears succeeded to the megaphone. Dartmouth, which had been wondering when another great team was coming along, immediately found itself with one on its hands. When Spears left for a job at West Virginia, New England football people were not noticed lamenting in the public places.

West Virginia was in the doldrums. But this "trouble shooter," of football soon had the boys on their feet, and his Mountaineer teams of 1923 and '24 were the scourge of the countryside.

GOPHER CONVALESCE

He went to Minnesota in 1925 to apply his nostrums to a very sick Gopher. And the Gopher got so well that it won 26 games against nine lost and three tied in the five years of his stewardship.

Next he applied his medicine to Oregon's languishing eleven, with the same sort of success. In his two years there, his teams won 13, lost four and were tied twice.

Wisconsin is said to have offered the doctor $10,000 per year for treatments of his magic shift and football fundamentals. So he just packed up and came back to the Big Ten this year. And, as you may have noticed, he really is back.

Maroons Reduce Admission Price

University of Chicago, Nov. 18—(AP)—The University of Chicago will put on sale 10,000 seats for the Maroons' final game of the football season with Wisconsin tomorrow, at $1 each. The reduction sets a new all-time low for the Big Ten. The seats are in the end stand. The cost of sideline seats remaining at $1.50.

ILLINOIS FANS HOPE FATES WILL BE GOOD TO GIL

Star Captain Of Football Team In Final Game Tomorrow

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 18—The first hope in the minds of the Illini is that they will be able to finish their season in a real blaze of glory by repulsing Ohio State in the Illinois stadium Saturday.

Next is a general desire that the Fates of Football will be kind to Captain Gil Berry and give him an opportunity to distinguish himself as he plays his last college game.

Berry, despite discouragements and obstacles, has battled on and already has reaped the reward of his perseverance in the satisfaction of having led the Illini out of the Big Ten cellar. Passing just as well as any one in the country, in the opinion of Coach Bob Zuppke, Berry is running better than ever and in general playing a top-notch all-around game.

Berry's achievements this season have included a 75-yard run for a touchdown against Chicago which overcame a lead by the Maroons, an 87-yard dash on the kickoff against Wisconsin and a long run for a touchdown against Indiana.

Against the superior personnel of Michigan, Berry could not score but the Wolverine rooters applauded both the Illini captain and Pete Yanuskas as they left a game where their playing Bob Zuppke said, could not have been bettered by any backs in the country.

Fortune has been kinder to Pete Yanuskas for as a sophomore he assisted in the triumph over the Army and contributed to the success of a campaign in which the Illini were runners-up for the championship. Pete undoubtedly will be used at some stage of Ohio game and everybody hopes that he also will have his moment as he plays his last game for Illini.

A third player who will appear in his valdictory game is Ack Bodman, guard who has been a leading lineman this season. Bodman by plugging away for two seasons and drilling in the spring, won a regular position this year although some other lettermen were forced to give way to sophomores.

There's a spirit of quiet confidence in the camp as the Illini await the onslaught of Ohio State. Now that they have beaten Chicago and Indiana and only lost to

BIG TEN TEAMS TO END SEASON ON THE MORROW

And There Are Several Important Details To Be Settled

Chicago, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Western Conference will end its 1932 football championship season tomorrow. Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago will be ending his 41-year association with the Big Ten, the title will be disposed of, and certain knick-knacks will find resting places for another year.

The championship angle crops up in two games. First, at Minneapolis, Michigan will tackle Minnesota, seeking its sixth straight triumph and an undisputed claim to the title, Purdue, unbeaten, tied, meets Indiana at LaFayette, and by winning over the Hoosiers, could win the championship in the event Minnesota upsets Michigan State.

A tie game at Minneapolis and a Purdue triumph would leave the Wolverines and Boilermakers sharing the honors.

At Chicago, Stagg will send his Maroon warriors out against Wisconsin, the big pleasant surprise of the Big Ten season. It will be the 391st time Stagg has sent his men out on the field, and probably will be the last at Chicago, for he is to be retired at the end of the college year. The dope says Wisconsin should win.

Three Knick-Knacks

The knick-knacks will be involved in three games. At the head of the list is the Michigan-Minnesota struggle over the "little brown jug"—which may or may not be the original piece of crockery. Michigan is favored to retain the ancient trophy.

Purdue and Indiana will fight for the "old oaken bucket," now resting in the Boilermaker trophy case. On form Purdue should win, with Indiana putting up as much of a struggle as Minnesota is expected to make against Michigan.

Ohio State and Illinois, old rivals and providers of upsets, will seek possession of a "wood model of a turtle" called "Illibuck," a combination of "Illini" and "Buckeye." Another rousing battle is the prospect, with Ohio holding the edge. Northwestern, crippled and at the end of its unhappy season since 1928, will take on Iowa at Evanston. Without Pug Renner, the leading Wildcat cripple, the improved Hawkeyes rate an almost even chance.

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press)
Cleveland—Army scouts are going to kill two birds with one stone this week. They've ordered a couple of good seats behind the goal posts for the Notre Dame-Navy game. The Cadets play Notre Dame Nov. 26 and Navy Dec. 3.

New York—The Columbia coaches' team which has been opposing the varsity in practice for some weeks now is operating with a makeshift lineup. Two members of the staff, Paul Liston and Joe Stanczyk, are on the sidelines with injuries suffered in scrimmage with the enthusiastic varsity.

Atlanta, Ga.—Buster Mott may be the only experienced backfield player in Georgia's lineup when the Bulldogs face Auburn tomorrow. Tentatively, the other three places have been awarded to Jack Griffith, Buck Chapman, and Joe Crutch, all sophomores.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Coach Harry Kipke was none too cheerful as his unbeaten Michigan eleven left for Minneapolis to play Minnesota. A 7 to 6 victory was about the best he could hope for, he said. He failed to state what might be the worst he expected.

Cleveland—"Wherever we go," moans Hunk Anderson of Notre Dame. "We're classed as a great team and we have no reason to be called great. We showed against Pitt that we are vulnerable. Kansas had us bottled up all afternoon. Against Northwestern our running attack was stopped again. I only hope our players are smart enough to realize how terrible our offense has been."

N. J. Police Called Off On Enforcement

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 18—(AP)—New Jersey state police were advised by Attorney General William A. Stevens to cease enforcement of the Hobart state prohibition act on Dec. 6.

The act was repealed by vote of the electorate on Nov. 8, but the Attorney General ruled the vote ineffective until it is officially certified by the Board of Canvassers. The police were also advised by the Attorney General that they were without authority to enforce the Federal prohibition laws, and that they are neither restrained from nor obligated to give aid to Federal agents when it is requested.

U. I. ECONOMIST SUGGESTS PLAN TO SOLVE DEBTS

Investment Of Principal And Interest Would Show Profit

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 18—(AP)—A proposed solution of the nation's foreign debt problem—by a plan he contends would be not only practical but eventually profitable for the United States—was outlined today by Prof. Ivan Wright of the Department of Economics at the University of Illinois.

Instead of cancellation or repudiation, or continued accumulation of inter-allied debts, Dr. Wright suggests a "practical solution" based on re-investment of the principal and interest of the debt of the debtor countries.

This form of adjustment, he believes, would relieve the world's money market, permit debtor countries to accumulate gold, stabilize their currencies and permit them again to engage in something approaching normal trade with the United States.

"Such a plan of re-investment," said Dr. Wright, "a nationally known authority of finance," "would do more to protect the United States against cancellation or repudiation."

Would Be Profitable

"It would save the American taxpayer not only the amount of these debts, but he would stand a chance of getting more than the amount of the debts."

"The losses which the United States has sustained already as a result of the debacle of world currencies in more than 40 countries has exceeded the debts these countries owe us."

Why not authorize the United States Treasury, Dr. Wright asks, to invest the principal of these debts—and such part of the interest as may seem wise—in securities, stocks and bonds of debtor countries as these debts fall due from year to year.

"Then when the market becomes satisfactory," he explains, "the Treasury at its discretion could resell these securities to American and foreign investors through American investment banks."

"By this means we could increase foreign investments of the United States and the Treasury would receive payment of its foreign loans with which to pay off the Liberty bonds."
